

Assignments in Moodle

Assignments in Moodle allows instructors to collect work from students, review it and provide feedback including grades.

Assignments in Moodle can help facilitate student success. Students get feedback regarding assignment due dates through the course calendar and when they open an assignment. The instructor may elect to have automated messages sent to the student regarding an assignment. Students will also be able to view the grading criteria and how their assignment was marked when rubrics and marking guides are used within Moodle.

Instructors are able to see submitted assignments at a glance and may send messages to students as a due date for an assignment approaches. Assignments may be bulk downloaded. Once the assignments are marked, feedback files may be bulk uploaded, with each student receiving their assignment feedback file the next time they open the assignment. When using Moodle rubrics and marking guides, Moodle completes the math calculations and the mark is automatically entered into the Moodle Grade Book.
