

Using Moodle to Track Activity Completions

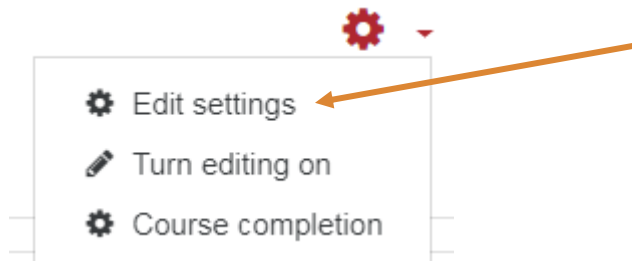

Moodle can be used by both instructors and students alike to track progress in a Moodle course. With this setting turned on, instructors can see who has completed an activity or viewed a resource, and students can use this feature to organize their progress through the course. This feature needs to be turned on at a course-wide level first, and then at an activity or resource level if the instructor would like to include it in completion tracking.

- Create a Completion Progress block

Enable completion tracking for the course

1. Go to the course home page.
2. Click on the Settings button, and then click on Edit settings.

3. You are now in Edit course settings. Locate the Completion tracking section, and select 'Yes' in the Enable completion tracking drop down box.

4. Click the Save and display button.

Enable completion tracking for an Activity or Resource

When using the completion tracking feature in Moodle, you need to set which activities and resources are going to be tracked as part of the course completion tracking. By default, all activities and resources will not be tracked and you will have to turn this feature on for each object.

1. In the course, turn editing on by clicking on the Settings button, then clicking Turn editing on from the dropdown menu.
2. Locate your activity or resource on your course page. Click on the Edit link on the right of the activity or resource title to access the editing menu. Click on Edit settings.
3. Scroll down to the Activity completion section. In the Completion tracking drop down menu, you may select one of three options:
 - Do not indicate activity completion – this activity will not be counted in the completion tracking for the course.
 - Student can manually mark the activity as completed – this provides a checkbox next to the object for the student to click once the activity is completed.
 - Show activity as complete when conditions are met – this activity will be considered marked when a student has completed an activity according to parameters that have been set by the instructor (options are different, depending on the activity or resource type):
 - i. Resource options (eg. Files, videos)
 - Student must view this activity to complete it
 - ii. Activity options (like assignments, quizzes, workshops) – these are dependent on the activity, but here are some examples of options available to you in some activities:
 - Student must view this activity to complete it
 - Student must receive a grade to complete this activity
 - Student must submit to this activity to complete it (assignments only)
 - Show as complete when user makes a choice (choices only)

- Require passing grade (quizzes only)
- Available attempts completed (quizzes only)
- Students must create entries (number to be determined) (glossaries only)
- Student must reach the end of lesson page to complete this activity (lessons only)
- Student must do this activity for at least _____ minutes (lessons only)

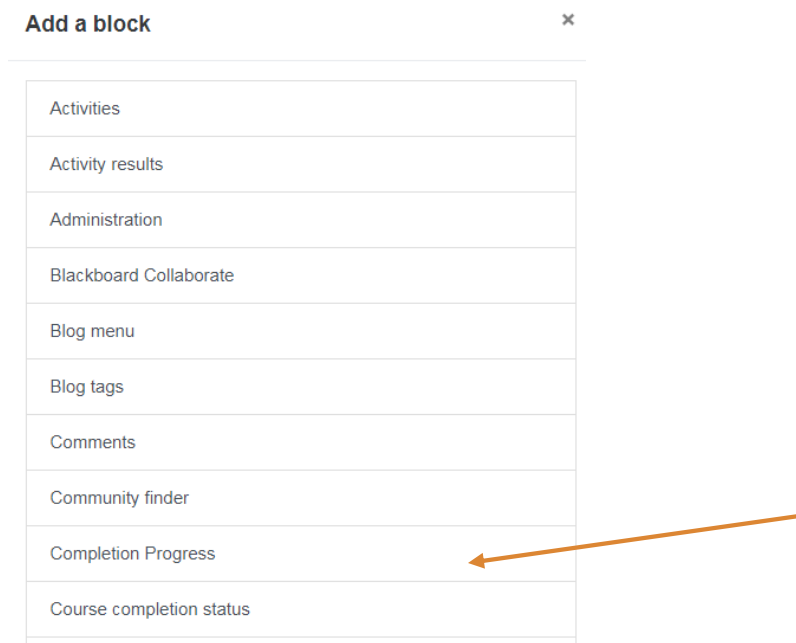

Create a Completion Progress block

Moodle offers a Completion Progress block that looks and behaves similarly to the Progress Bar block. This block gives students a nice visual of how much of the course they have completed. What makes this block different from the old Progress Bar block is that you would set completion tracking within the activities instead of setting what activities are tracked in the block.

1. Turn editing on by clicking on the Settings button and clicking on Turn editing on in the dropdown menu.
2. Open up your Navigation pane by clicking on the hamburger button on the top left of the browser window.

3. Click on Add a block (bottom of Navigation pane), and select Completion Progress from the popup menu.

4. Your Completion Progress bar should now be visible, with all activities you're tracking represented. You can roll your mouse over the bar to see what activities have been completed (green). Activities not completed (and not overdue) are shown in blue, while overdue activities are shown in red.

5. Clicking on the gear icon of this block allows you to change a few options in this block:
 - a. Order bar by – due date or when this activity occurs within the course.
 - b. How to present long bars – squeezed within the block, allow students to scroll within the block, or 'wrap' the progress bar on several lines within the block.
 - c. Use icons in bar – shows checkmarks in the bar when the activity is complete, and an 'x' when the activity is not complete. Recommended to improve visibility.
 - d. Show percentage to students – shows percentage of the course that is complete.
 - e. Visible only to group – restrict to certain groups.
 - f. Alternate title – change the title of the block (currently 'Completion Progress').
 - g. Activities included – include all activities with completion set, or certain activities (eg. if you are only tracking quizzes in this block).
 - h. Select activities – select the activities to include in this block.
